Winter 2009 "My Three Angels," by Sam & Bella Spewack. The scene is French Guiana ("Devil's Island") where three convicts, hired to re-roof a house for local residents, overhear a host of tragedies about to descend upon the family and use their criminal skills to bring love and justice to all concerned. Gentle comedy with hilarious overtones and redeeming joy.

A hit on Broadway and a regular favorite of community theatre audiences all over the world. Friday & Saturday, February 13, 14, 20, 21, 27 & 28 at 8 pm; Sunday matinees, February 15, 22 & March 1 at 2 pm; Thrifty Thursday Early Bird, February 26 at 7 pm.

Spring 2009 "Born Yesterday," by Garson Kanin. A barely literate big time junk dealer comes to Washington to put through an unscrupulous deal, accompanied by his wide-eyed, street-wise blonde "companion." He makes the mistake of hiring a journalist to give her some "couth" and she turns into a willing student of the way American democracy (and real love) is supposed to work. One of the funniest scripts ever written with a vital civics lesson along the way.

Friday & Saturday, May 1, 2, 8, 9, 15 & 16 at 8 pm; Sunday matinees, May 3, 10 & 17 at 2pm; Thrifty Thursday Early Bird, May 14 at 7 pm.

Summer 2009 "Damn Yankees," the all-time favorite baseball musical, with music and lyrics by Richard Adler & Jerry Ross, book by George Abbott and Oxford's own Douglas Wallop. How the old-time Washington Senators sold their souls to the Devil to beat the Yankees. "You've Gotta Have Heart," "Whatever Lola Wants," and many more wonderful songs plus a fast-moving plot that will deliver joy to the whole family. You mustn't miss this one!

Friday & Saturday, August 14, 15, 21, 22, 28 & 29 at 8 pm; Sunday matinees, August 16, 23 and 30 at 2 pm; Thrifty Thursday Early Bird, August 27 at 7 pm.

Fall 2009 "Barefoot in the Park," by Neil Simon. One of the best by America's master of zany New York comedy. A pair of newly-weds move into a fifth floor, walk-up apartment, complete with no bathroom, a leaky ceiling and a host of certifiably nutty neighbors. He's a stuffed shirt young attorney, she's a sweet, romantic young things. You will laugh yourself silly before the night is over.

October 23, 24, 30, 31 & November 6 & 7 at 8 pm; Sunday matinees on October 25, November 1 & 8 at 2 pm; Thrifty Thursday Early Bird, November 5 at 7 pm.
